Prospect Mechanic Builds Own Telescope for Study of Skies

Garage Man Takes Up Astronomy After Visit To Ohio Wesleyan Observatory.

By SCOTT McMURRAY

Alvin N Emberton, 52, who lives a mile east of Prospect, has been known locally for many years as a good garage mechanic but it's a safe bet many of his friends have never suspected that he also is a designer and builder of fine telescopes which he uses for his real hobby, that of amateur astronomy

Three years ago he was one of those present on visitors' night at the Perkins observatory at nearby Ohio Wesleyan university at Delaware While there he had the opportunity to scan the stars through a 60-inch telescope From that moment he determined astronomy would be his hobby He secured books on the subject from Ohio Wesleyan and employing two telescopes, one of 10 to 45 power, and a second of a slightly larger size, he pursued his hobby through the heavens.

After almost two years planning and preparation he was ready to start construction of his dream, a 4-inch telescope With no previous experience he started his work on Oct 1, 1947 and using all his spare time he completed his instrument in 90 days He ground all the lenses in the scope himself with the exception of the 4-inch objective lens which he purchased from New York Completed of shining brass, gleaming bronze and glistening glass at a cost of approximately $225 exclusive of his labor his telescope is rated superior in performance to a popular brand sold by a western optical firm for $485.

Varying Magnification

With its 60-inch focal length the big scope will deliver from 60 to 240 power depending on the eyepiece attached. When this is compared to a first line field glass which costs $135 and delivers only seven power with a 50-yard field of vision, the high power and low cost of his instrument becomes apparent

In testing his instrument for accuracy of image detail and clearness of focus he employed an unusual but effective method Placing the instrument, firmly supported against vibration, in a horizontal position, he focused on the front page of The Marion Star, held by a friend, one and one-half miles away When the instrument was adjusted so the headlines could be read at that distance, he extended studies of the solar system Almost six months of scanning the heavens have proved his surmise correct, he stated.

At present the telescope is portable and when in use is mounted on a six-foot tripod with a 45-degree transit mounting. In this condition the powerful lenses can be protected against heat, wind, weather, and breakage Later this summer he will build an electrically powered revolving observatory dome atop a new garage building he is completing near his home One of the unfortunate circumstances of star gazing, as done by the astronomer, is the fact that some of the best and clearest studies of the heavens are made in the coldest winter weather when the stratosphere which surrounds the earth is comparatively free of dust, clouds, and heat distortion caused by warm air currents Large telescopes are not readily damaged by cold but quite easily damaged by the condensation caused by heated rooms. Hence the astronomer must endure the cold because his instrument cannot endure unnatural heat. Mr Emberton star-gazed through the coldest nights last winter

Good Season Lately

Mr Emberton has been having exceptional success of late with his studies of the moon, the rings around Saturn, and the moons of Jupiter and for the last week has been making observations each morning at 3 a m in an effort to get a look at a new comet.

Recent rains during the day and early evening followed by clear periods late each night have aided materially in settling dust in the area around Prospect thereby making observations much clearer.

The greatest joy in star gazing for Mr Emberton is the look of amazement on the face of a friend or visitor when he takes his eye from the eyepiece of the telescope after having had his first look at the moon through a high-powered instrument. Like a sincere hobbyist and astronomer he is very patient when visitors identify planets as stars, and stars as planets. Tirelessly he explains stars and planets are radically different astronomically Planets are believed to be formations of matter similar in many ways to the earth while stars are classified as "atomic furnaces" in space Friends who stop by nightly for a brief session of scanning the sky with the big glass indicate the moon still is the greatest center of attention, says Mr. Emberton, even though they can see there isn't really a man in the moon.

New Tremors Hit Jap City

Earthquake Casualties Estimated at 2,500 Dead and Injured.

By The Associated Press

FUKUI, JAPAN, June 29—The shattered Fukui area felt new earth tremors tonight. Military government officers estimated Mondays earthquake casualties would mount to 2,500 dead and injured Japanese.

No new damage was reported. All Americans in the stricken area escaped serious injury but a number were bruised and burned slightly.

American relief reached the quake scene to aid the injured and homeless.

Military government officers said 200 children were crushed to death when a motion picture theater collapsed in the first shock. Their bodies have been recovered. At a school 22 more children and two adults were reported crushed.

Estimates 300 Dead

Maj. Gen. Joseph W. Swing, U. S. Army First Corps commander, returned to Kyoto from Fukui and said he doubted the death list for the whole stricken area would exceed 300 but the total injured may eventually reach 5,000. He said there was no evidence of any tidal waves striking the shore from the sea of Japan.

The governor of Fukui prefecture estimated 3,155 were killed in the violent quake. (The Tokyo newspaper Asahi gave the number of dead and injured in the prefecture as 16,000. It reported 200,000 homeless.)

Americans here who went through the quake, said it was almost as if Fukui, which was leveled by superforts late in the war, was hit by an atom bomb The city of 85,000 is heavily damaged.

The first tremors burst water mains. Fires flashed but Americans and Japanese were helpless before the flames without water.

Half the city, rebuilt wooden houses and structures, went down in the first tremor or so. Ninety-five per cent of what was left was burned and scorched and turned into rubble.

Few Americans Hurt

A few of the Americans here suffered minor injuries—mostly cuts, bruises and burns. Many lost their possessions.

Military personnel, totalling 17 officers 17 enlisted men and two civilians, fought valiantly throughout the night and day to help the suffering Japanese.

Flames still seared their faces as they led the Japanese to safety on the edge of the ravaged town.

BERLINERS IN APPEAL TO UN ON FOOD CRISIS

City Government Headed by Woman Asks Intervention Against Blockade.

By The Associated Press

BERLIN, June 29—Berlin's city government drafted today an appeal for the United Nations to intervene in the food crisis caused by Russia's blockade of the city's land transport lifelines.

Frau Louise Schroeder, Berlin's Socialist lord mayor, said the city government had decided the United Nations was "the only institution to which Berlin can appeal in its present distress."

The city's parliament is to meet late today to consider the appeal Frau Schroeder said it would be communicated first to the chiefs of the four occupying armies and then transmitted to Lake Success through a neutral military mission, probably either Danish or Norwegian

She said the note as drafted could "not be considered an affront to any of the occupying powers"—meaning Russia Secretary-General Trygve Lie of the United Nations was reported in Lake Success last night to "be studying whether to present the Berlin situation to the Security council

Pinched by Own Blockade

The Russians, meanwhile, acknowledged that they are being pinched by their own blockade The Soviet-controlled press announced that emergency imports of 36,000 tons of hard coal are being rushed in from Poland

These imports are designed to make up for the loss of Ruhr coal from western Germany, which is cut off from Berlin by the Soviet clampdown on rail transport from the west.

The Russians lifted their ban on interzonal travel by Germans today, but made no move to relax the food blockade.

The newest Soviet decree apparently referred only to auto and pedestrian traffic. The Soviet licensed news agency, ADN, said rail traffic to Berlin could not be resumed "for some time" because of necessary repairs.

The Russians stopped rail traffic from Helmstadt to the former capital eight day ago for "technical reasons."

There was no mention whether Allied personnel would be able to drive to Berlin on the autobahn. This highway has been closed to eastbound military traffic since June 19, when currency reform began in western Germany.

The Russian report said only Germans with "valid" international passes would be allowed to enter the Soviet zone.

American and British air crews are striving to fly enough food over the Russian land blockade to feed 2,500,000 Berliners. U. S. authorities said the shuttle service is being put on a 24-hour a day schedule

A British spokesman said it might be necessary to parachute food into the city if air traffic gets too heavy for British and American airfields to handle.

The Soviet-sponsored Social Unity party of east Berlin has appealed to the Russians to provide fresh milk for children and sick persons in all four sectors of the capital The Russians have stopped the flow of food from their zone into western Berlin.

LAKE SUCCESS, June 29 — Colombia declared today that the United Nations Security Council should act to end the Berlin crisis.

This was the first positive reaction from any member of the council to Secretary-General Trygve Lie's feeler as to whether he should lay the Berlin issue before the council.

Lie's final decision, however, was held up pending receipts of the reaction of other council members, particularly the United States and Britain.

World political circles are agog over reports Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito has been expelled from the Cominform, new Communist information bureau whose HQ was at Belgrade, Yugoslav capital. MASS QUITTING STILL LOOMS

Columbus Council Fails To Vote Pay Hikes for Police and Firemen.

BULLETIN

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 29—Fire Chief Walter G. Strickfaden today countered a threat of mass resignations from Columbus firemen by advising acceptance of the resignations.

The fire chief said if demands for more money made by firemen are not met by July 5 and the men allow their resignations to remain on his desk he will recommend they be accepted by the city.

By The Associated Press

[redacted] of their police and fire department resignations over more money still found Columbus today despite council approval of an allowance for uniforms

Councilmen voted the allowance last night, but refused to take any action on demands for a flat $50 monthly pay increase.

Ninety-four of 277 city firemen and 94 of 303 police officers threatened Saturday to resign July 5 unless they received uniform allowances and the $50 monthly wage hike. There are 193 total vacancies in the departments

Fire Chief Walter G Strickfaden said he would declare a public emergency if there were any wholesale resignations He said this would allow him to set up a working schedule of 24 hours on duty and 24 hours off, instead of the present 8-hour day, 40-hour week

Increase "Impossible"

The $50-a-month increase was described as "impossible" by Council President Joseph E. Jones

"We must treat all employees alike," he said. "There are 3,000 city employes. It would take $1,800,000 if everybody got $50 raises."

AID FROM U.S. SEEN AS ROOT OF TITO'S WOE

Hope for Marshall Plan Benefits Stirs Cominform Anger at Yugoslav Leader.

By The Associated Press

The multibillion dollar Marshall plan appeared today to be one of the hidden causes for the startling breach between Yugoslavia and Russia's Communist empire in eastern Europe

The cominform blast at Premier Marshal Tito listed high among its criticisms that the Balkan dictator was leaning toward the west.

Economic sources close to the European recovery program in Italy said it is "more than likely that worsening economic conditions and a very strong desire by many Yugoslav circles to receive Marshall plan benefits contributed to the breach between Tito and Moscow."

Similar expressions sounded in newspapers scattered throughout the non-Communist parts of Europe.

Two Sign Agreements

Italy and Ireland signed Marshall plan agreements yesterday.

The official Yugoslav news agency said a statement is expected from Tito today The Communist party in Belgrade said it will issue a statement during the day to reply to the 8,000 words of vituperation uttered by the cominform.

The Italian radio said martial law had been declared in Yugoslavia but this was denied in Belgrade [redacted] was that the cominform had told Tito "You have done wrong. Confess and do better, but we don't think you can."

An official British source said the blast is proof that "the cominform is an instrument of the Kremlin" and "a Communist body with international executive and disciplinary functions."

"It makes any talk of the Marshall plan being interference in other countries' affairs seem small and foolish," he said.

Tito's Fate Unknown

The fate of Tito was a mystery. Belgrade dispatches said he was believed to be in Bled, where he witnessed a year ago the shooting down of U S airmen by one of his fighter planes. A former Yugoslav delegate to the United Nations said he thought Tito had been killed. Ranking U. S. officials said certainly he had been "taken care of." But in Rome, a high Yugoslav diplomat asserted Tito still is in power.

The cominform is the cabal of Russia, the puppet states she controls in eastern Europe and the Communist party of Italy and France. Its surprising announcement accused Tito and Yugoslav Communists, which is to say the Yugoslav government, of pursuing a hateful policy toward Russia, leaning towards the western powers, departing from the Marx-Lenin gospel and conducting what Officials Vote To Enter Project With Board.

City council last night authorized Mayor Harry L. Dowler to enter into a contract on behalf of the city with the county commissioners for the construction of a new hospital.

The ordinance which passed unanimously, paves the way for action by the commissioners to place the hospital program before the voters possibly in a special election within the next several months.

Other salient measures passed by council last night included approval of a new lease with the Fraternal Order of Eagles providing a $100 per month reduction in rent for city offices, action paving the way for a new storm sewer requested by some 400 residents of the eastern and southern section of the city and adoption of an ordinance transferring the Marion Rapid Transit Co.'s bus routes present schedules from temporary to permanent status.

City Obligations

The legislation giving the mayor authority to contract with the commissioners for construction of a new hospital specifies the following obligations to be met by each agency under the city-county agreement.

The city agrees: 1—To supply a site if the move can be provided and is acceptable from city owned property. 2—To furnish all city owned equipment now located in the Marion City hospital. 3—To make available all accounts receivable of the Marion City hospital and of moneys in the hospital fund. 4—To provide a percentage of the cost of construction based on tax valuation in the event said money is voted by the people of the entire county of which the city is a part. 5—To provide fire and police protection, streetlighting and storm sewerage free of charge in the location of the new hospital within the city.

The county agrees: 1—It will indemnify to the extent of Marion county including the city, the question of the issuance of bonds for construction of the hospital and make the funds derived available as so voted providing the federal government supplements the project with funds amounting to approximately one-third of the construction cost.

Method of Control

Under the terms of the agreement as set forth in the council legislation, the hospital is to be constructed by a board of hospital commissioners and shall be managed by a board of governors, both boards having representation from the city and county.

Also, the county is to assume the existing obligations of the city hospital and any deficit in the operation of the new hospital shall be shared by the city and county in direct proportion to the city-county tax valuation ratio. Any operating balance is to be maintained in the hospital fund as a reserve.

Mayor Dowler indicated that the proposal to go before the people for approval would call for a bond issue of $1,500,000. To this will be added $500,000 in federal funds as a grant in aid for hospital construction. The mayor indicated a tax levy of one mill ($1 per $1,000 valuation) over a 20 year period would cover the bond issue.

He indicated that the proposal had been under study by the commissioners and County Prosecutor James E. Reed representing the county and by City Solicitor John W. Wetters and himself for the city and that both agencies were in general agreement on the proposal.

Council over strenuous objection of finance committee Chairman Don Biggert, Fourth ward, approved a new lease of city hall at $600 per month. Effective July 1, for a two year period, the lease effects a rent reduction of $100 per month. The Eagles had hiked the rent to $700 as of the first of the year causing council to start looking for other quarters.

The new lease unlike the previous lease contains no "escape clause" providing for termination by either party after 30 days notice. It gives the city option

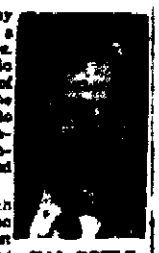
Roving Reports

By Hal Boyle

GHOSTS have no daylight victims. And so there is no way to say that ghosts were present in the crowds that last week attended one of the weirdest auctions in history.

It was a sale that reversed the dictum that in war the spoils belong to the victors. It was a sale to see that some of the spoils of the second World war went to the victims.

Up for auction was a small portion of many tons of Nazi loot seized in Germany and Austria and brought here. It will be sold over a period of months and the proceeds used to resettle and rehabilitate European displaced persons.



HAL BOYLE

The first batch of loot put on block the last week contained 830 lots and brought $180,435. This was 30 per cent more than its value as estimated in advance.

It consisted of jewelry expensive household wares and artistic bric-a-brac that couldn't be identified and returned to the original owners.

Many long since had been put to death in the gas pits at Dachau and robbed even of the gold in their teeth. Others had passed through the one-way portals of the concentration camp at Buchenwald, the earthly hell where Nazi guards greeted incoming prisoners with the macabre jest "Abandon all hope ye who enter here."

THE NAZI BOOTY was brought here because this is the only land with cash to pay for it—cash to help the rootless victims of distress still encamped in Germany.

In the minds of successful bidders as the auctioneer's hammer crashed down to end each sale there must have been a wonder: Whose had the piece he just bought belonged to? What women in what country had lingered after dinner under the soft light shed by "lot 200, two pairs of Repousse silver Candlesticks?" Did she worry that "her prized candlesticks had some imperfections" as the sale catalog bluntly said?

What wealthy housewife had used an ivory that some guest would chip a plate in her 24-piece Herend porcelain table service? It sold here for $1,200. What kind of tableware did she eat off in her own last hours? At Buchenwald there was only a bowl.

WHO HAD TOASTED whom for what vanished moments of personal good fortune in the 16 tasted glass hocks of "lot 2?" New people in a country an ocean away now will drink white wine from them.

Behind each lot as it came up was a story of some forgotten hour or lifetime of pleasure. Perhaps many kidnaps—for a large number of the items were antiques. But those stories will never be known. Nothing is so anonymous as the treasures of broken households put up at auction in a strange place under the eyes of impersonal buyers.

The perished silver showed no reflection of the happiness it brought to other owners in another day. Nor did it reflect the panic fear that came with the midnight knock of the Nazi at the door.

IN THE BIGGEST SALE of the week one man paid $4,200 for four small boxes. These trinkets of another day must have been the joy of some old-world collectors. And the man who forked out the $4,200 to get them must have been pleased his money went to a good cause.

It is doubtful however, whether he enjoyed paying the 20 per cent excise to help one person who has never been displaced—Uncle Sam. For $4'9 he could have put a set of snuff in those cases.

Of more than 6,500 teachers in North Dakota's public schools about 72 are nuns.

Army's Answers to Draft Quiz

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON June 29—Here are some questions put to the Army about the draft and Army answers, in whole or in part

Can selectees volunteer for the regular Army?

Each selectee will be encouraged to enlist in the regular military establishment at any time after he has entered service by induction. The emphasis should be on securing enlistments for the longest term possible.

Are selectees going to be trained separately or are they going to be trained together with the regular outfits?

Selectees will not be trained separately but will be trained with and in the same manner as volunteers.

• • •

How long will men be trained before they are sent overseas?

It is anticipated that no enlisted personnel will be sent overseas within their having a minimum of eight weeks basic training for fighting or for occupation duty?

Fighting. The whole training function of the Army is to develop a trained soldier capable of performing efficiently his primary mission in combat.

• • •

Will the selectees be trained in accordance with universal military training plan or like regular Army volunteers? (Congress has not approved a UMT plan, proposed by the Army.)

The selectee will be trained like the regular Army volunteer. However the present plan contemplates an eight weeks basic training course temporarily until units of the Army have been properly filled, after which the usual 12 or 13 weeks program will obtain. Furthermore some of the principles developed in the experimental unit at Fort Knox have been and will be incorporated in regular Army training program.

• • •

Will women be drafted?

No.

Will Army draftees be able to transfer to the Air Force or Navy if they want to?

No and vice versa.

Will we have a broomstick Army?

No. Adequate material is available to train new personnel.

Is adequate housing available?

Mobilization-type World War II buildings will be utilized to house trainees. We have relatively few funds with which to dress them up, but by concentrating our expenditures on the essentials, we will be able to provide year-round basic comfort. Luxury is out of the question.

• • •

Will he be given a job commensurate with his abilities? Will he be able to continue his civilian occupation in the Army?

In instances where he has a skill readily convertible to an Army job and assuming he is sufficiently well qualified therein, normally he will be selected for that type of assignment. In this respect however the needs of the service must govern.

What steps are being taken to utilize newly trained men after they finish their 21 months of service?

The bill provides for the transfer of each individual to a reserve component upon completion of a normal tour of service by induction.

• • •

Why can't the Army get enough volunteer enlistments?

The competing with the other services and with civilian life is too keen.

Will the draftee be stationed near home?

In general personnel being inducted from civil life will be ordered to the training division nearest his home. However upon completion of basic training in either the training division or in units an enlisted man inducted under selective service will become available for Army-wide assignment and will be assigned to the Army area where the greatest need for his service exist.

• • •

Will he have to serve overseas?

He will be available for world-wide assignment. This does not, of course, apply to the 18-year-old volunteers.

How often can he come home?

He will be authorized the same leave as officers and enlisted men of the regular Army—30 days a year. He probably will have little opportunity during his basic training to go home. During the remainder of the year within training requirements, furloughs up to 30 days each year are authorized.

• • •

What about his disrupted education?

The Army has an education program now functioning which will enable the draftee to continue his formal studies on off-duty time. There will be educational courses available to him which will fit directly into his educational plans for the future and which are, in general, accredited by civilian educational institutions.

Will parents of selectees be able to visit on the post where their son is stationed?

In the World War II program the Army provided guest houses operated by the post exchange for this purpose. These facilities will be reopened within the limits of resources at reactivated training centers and will be available at nominal charges. Feeding facilities will be available through service club cafeterias.

• • •

Will Communists be drafted?

There is no provision in the law for excluding Communists.

What about the court-martial system?

There is no peculiar court-martial system applicable to the inductees. They will be subject to the articles of war as are all other members of the military establishment.

Will selectees be entitled to veterans benefits as the "GI bill" provided for World War II vets?

The "GI bill" does not apply to those entering the Army after July 25, 1947. Under present legislation, the selectee who has completed his term of service in a satisfactory manner will be entitled to very liberal reemployment benefits.

• • •

What about race segregation?

Our policy must continue to be the employment of Negro troop units of appropriate size and conformation in the best interests of over-all efficiency. There will be equality of opportunity and lack of discrimination between races.

Will inductees be given airborne training at centers where there are airborne divisions?

No soldiers will be given airborne training unless they volunteer for service in an airborne unit.

Asks Penny Parking Meters for Cincinnati

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI June 29—Safety Director Orus Hamilton said today he would recommend to City Manager W. R. Kellogg that penny parking meters be purchased for trial use in outlying sections of the city. Twelve minutes of parking would be allowed for a penny. Hamilton said the plan probably would encourage a greater turnover in parking.

TUESDAY JUNE 29 1948

A Word of Warning

THE FEDERAL reserve bulletin sees business profits continuing to pile up for the remainder of the year but looking ahead to 1949 and beyond at least one economist sees danger signals.

Joseph G. Rettag has told the Cooperative Club of Chicago a group of business and professional men that the nation is in the most dangerous era in its history because "every week it is being clearly demonstrated that all major economic conflicts and repercussions - domestic as well as foreign - are being checked by political action." He referred to the defense program and ECA which call for more than 40 billions.

Mr. Rettag doesn't foresee a bankruptcy plunge in 1948 but rather "a lopsided and extended primary postwar boom which will continue until demands runs out our economy has been running through a vigorous but rotating demand in the midst of piecemeal readjustments." He predicts "some kind of credit crisis in 1949 or certainly not later than 1950. For as in all booms we are sowing the seeds for an eventual day of reckoning."

It is good to call attention to these pessimistic evaluations as they are made. The few Cassandras who spoke their minds before the 1929 debacle were hooted down and derisively pelted with ticker tape.

Margaret of Maine

THERE was nothing indecisive about the nomination of Margaret Chase Smith as Maine's senator to succeed Wallace H. White Jr. In a contest with three rivals, she received double the vote of her nearest competitor and polled more votes than all three combined.

With the Republican nomination equivalent to election in Maine, Mrs. Smith will be the first woman senator since Arkansas' Hattie W. Caraway took office in 1931 after the death of her husband, Thaddeus H. Carraway.

Mrs. Smith has been a telephone operator, school teacher, newspaperwoman and secretary to her husband, Representative Clyde H. Smith whom she succeeded upon his death. She has represented Maine's second district so ably that she has been elected four times.

Senator Smith of Maine will come to the senate armed with impressive credentials. That rock-rivved state isn't one likely to break with tradition and elect a woman senator unless she has outstanding qualifications.

A Change of Plans

THE NAVY has halted work on the battleship Kentucky and 12 smaller warships which have been under construction more than two years. They are obsolescent. Science moves ahead so rapidly nowadays that naval design can't keep up.

The Kentucky and the smaller craft will be allowed to sit until a study is made to see if they can be converted into missiled ships. Meanwhile the rest of the money allotted for them will go into a new supercarrier that can handle jet bombers. This $125,000,000 Leviathan will be completed sometime after 1950 unless further scientific advances have also made it obsolete by then.

Our Base In the Azores

PORTUGAL has agreed to allow the United States to use Lagens airdrome in the Azores for from three to five years providing us with an important fueling station 800 miles from Europe. This is the vast airfield the U. S. Air Force built during World War II.

Defense Secretary Forrestal has sent a cordial thank you note to Portugal's Premier Salazar pointing to the long and pleasant relations between the United States and Portugal. For while the Salazar regime in many respects is little better than Franco's in neighboring Spain the government is like some of those in Central and South America which we find it expedient to tolerate and even live with on fairly congenial terms.

No Place To Hide

USE of caves as refuges from modern warfare isn't feasible according to William E. Davies the Army map service expert on spelleology which is the study of caves.

Mr. Davies says a false idea of the safety of caves has developed because certain well known caverns are open for public inspection. Some of these might be useful for storage of equipment or records he says but any large underground development would have to be made by man with arrangements for drainage ventilation and safety from falling rock.

This rules out one answer to the question "Where will you hide?" asked in a film being distributed by the Encyclopedia Britannica publishers. The film is designed to show "what will happen in another war when atomic bombs bacteriological warfare or still-unpublicized weapons of mass destruction rain down on our cities."

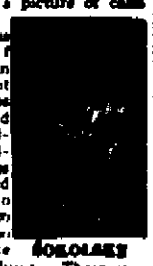
Our hopes must rest with something more satisfactory than retreating to the caves whence man came centuries ago. He has no way to go but forward, whatever fate is in store for him beyond the horizon.

Scanning the Record

By George E. Sokolsky

Should Do Something About Archaic Conventions.

THE convention device is too primitive to be of continued value. Certainly, the business of selecting a president of the United States ought to be a more serious business a more sober procedure. Jiggling girls, prancing on the rostrum hired kids shouting from the balconies, milling men and women who managed to get tickets but representing nothing do not present a picture of calm deliberation.



SOKOLSKY

The various committees of arrangements in the future ought to set up rules which would prevent candidates from filling the galleries with so-called "youths who are there to cheer and behave and act like fools and hoodlums. There was not the spontaneous ovation and demonstration when any candidate was nominated nor were all or even most who milled about on the floor delegates. The kids were given assistant sergeant-at-arms badges to get in and plenty got in without any badges or any tickets.

Fun is fun but a convention to select a president is neither a circus nor a vaudeville show — and all this juvenile stuff ought to cease forthwith and forever. And another disgrace is the agreement by which the convention is prolonged and dragged out to make it last long enough to satisfy the merchants and hotel keepers who put up some money to bring the show to their town. All the doings at the Republican convention could have been over on Wednesday if the business had been efficiently managed. But it was permitted to drag and drag endlessly.

Joe Martin may be a wonderful speaker of the house of representatives but he could not keep this convention in order and moving, probably because it had to waste time to please the hotels. Also Joe must have had a love for the demonstrations he must let them continue long after they were well over.

Must Be Seen

Unless you have seen these ovations you cannot imagine how silly they are. Men and women walk about with their candidate's name or singing his "theme song." The voice of the mayor at the 1944 Chicago convention may have been ridiculous but the voice of George Bender singing the "four leaf clover" song was equally stupid and ugly. It did not make a vote for Senator Taft.

Someone has to break through this silly tradition for no better word describes it than silly. It costs party managers large fortunes and makes the convention itself ridiculous. It looks as tomfoolery which it is. Or is it possible that this imbecilic galavanting is necessary to keep the delegates from being bored?

Television will in time spoil all this but it will never end until some candidate can get himself nominated without it. Senator Homer Ferguson broke one tradition when he seconded Vandenberg without making one of those enormous five-minute speeches that uniformly say nothing but go on everlastingly. He cut through that ice but as his man was not nominated it made little impression on the convention. Maybe some day someone will kill off the demonstration and ovation.

Also the committees on arrangement might pick a cool town for a late June convention, some place where there is a breeze and a little freshness of atmosphere. The heat at the Philadelphia show was unbearable and I can only pity the poor Democrats who will meet in the middle of July. Why not take such a convention to the Adirondacks or to Yellowstone National Park? Why pick a hot spot? Is it to keep the delegates from thinking of anything but the weather?

I am not griping. I am crusading against dopey traditions that hang on because there is insufficient courage to kill them. I am protesting against stupidity. I want to shame the party managers. I want to stimulate anger in the delegates. Maybe it can not be done. Maybe they like to sweat while a young girl goes through disgraceful exhibitionism on the stage. Maybe they think that is the way to pick a president of the United States.

Navy Bonus Still in Port

By James H. Meade

OHIO'S navy veterans of World War II are still waiting for their ship to come in as far as the state bonus is concerned and it looks as though the former sailors are going to be left struggling in a sea of red tape for some time.

The former gobs started to list a little to the irritated side when they learned the lack of reporting and departing dates on their discharges left their claim to sea service in doubt.

Another gaping hole was torn beneath the water line of their hopes when it was learned the naval bureau of personnel would not allow checking of the records in Washington because the enormity of the task exceeded any clerical force the navy could muster for the job.

The state was denied access to the records on the ground that they are confidential documents and not to be examined by civilian agencies for bonus purposes. The amount of confusion that would be created by the invading Ohio clerks was probably also a factor in the decision.

So there we are, mateys.

The state wants to reward us for heroic actions but not too much. The navy has upheld its unblemished record of seldom cooperating with any other agency, including its alleged ally in the late war, the U. S. Army.

Pretty soon you'll undoubtedly get another affidavit asking you to swear to what you have already sworn to in the first application. Maybe they figure if you swear twice they'll catch you at something or they're just checking to see if you tell the same story in the same way.

The entire ludicrous situation could have been avoided if navy records carried complete information as to places and lengths of service.

But have patience mateys.

One of these days you'll be able to join with other servicemen in crying "Postman off the starboard bow, making two knots toward mailbox, with $400, I hope."

New Use for Magnetism

An invention that may lead to machines that never wear out has been developed by the General Electric Co.

The company has perfected a new type of meter in which the disc that measures the use of electric current rotates by magnetic suspension.

The principle eliminating the need of bearings to make it revolve could be applied to any number of machines including automobiles refrigerators and oil burners observers said.

General Electric said the "magnetic suspension" principle would result in large savings in the serving of the nation's 40,000,000 electric meters.

In addition to reducing maintenance costs and giving meters longer life the company said the new device will make it possible to measure amounts of electricity used in home and industry to a hair precision.

General Electric said its development is the first successful application of magnetic suspension in which magnetic attraction keeps a spinning object floating in the air.

In tests engineers spun their magnetic meters at speeds impossible in ordinary meters.

Then they took the meters apart and found no wear at all. The parts measured up to original specifications to the thousandth of an inch. With the use of the same principle any machine could run indefinitely without wearing out.

Farm Population Lower

10.2 Per Cent Decline Noted in Last 8 Years

THE American farm population on Jan. 1 1948, was 10.2 per cent below levels recorded in the 1940 census the Census Bureau reports.

Summarizing rural population trends the bureau noted that military demobilization and a high birth rate were big factors in a partial recovery of farm population from its low of January 1945. Thus the 27,439,000 people living on farms the past January represented a gain of 2,249,000 over the number there in 1945.

But the bureau pointed out that even high birth rates and the return of the armed forces have not brought figures back to prewar levels. Government figures indicate a decline in birth rates in many states during the last few months.

"A substantial net out-migration from farms between 1940 and 1947 is suggested by these figures and confirmed by direct inquiry on such migration the bureau concluded. "This movement involved both civilian families and unattached adults and war veterans who decided not to return to the farm."

The bureau said latest available figures (1947) indicate that most of the exodus away from farms occurred in age groups under 25 years. In the older categories the farm population remained about the same from 1940 to 1947 although these groups increased their share of the total national population.

Mileage

Miles of track remain the same as miles of railroad. The latter may be composed of a single track or two three or more parallel tracks and may also include sidings spurs and yard tracks. Hence one mile of railway mileage may actually embrace several miles of track. For instance the railway mileage of the U. S. in 1945 was 227,135 while nearly 400,000 miles of track was being operated.—C. & O. Topics.

FENCE POSTS

Hard, back-breaking work digging post holes is avoided in modern farm fencing by portable motor-driven augers. Even so, posts need protection to reduce need for replacing fences. Zinc chloride solution, applied under a head from a piece of used tire tube fitted tightly over the butt end of the post has been recommended as a treatment to delay rotting. — OSU Science and Agriculture.

"May I Cut In?"

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Wednesday, June 23, 1938.

Miss Marilyn Meseke of South Prospect street won the title of Miss Ohio and was crowned queen of beauty in the Festival of Beauty and Fire climaxing the 49th annual supreme council Grotto convention in Cleveland. Miss Meseke was sponsored by Kadgar Grotto of Marion of which A. H. Marks was monarch.

Sparks from a firecracker ignited and within a few minutes destroyed a $500 fireworks stand and contents at the corner of Main street and Copeland avenue.

Approximately 250 drivers submitted to tests measuring their reaction to driving conditions at the "laboratory test trailer" at the courthouse place. The tests were part of a "safe driving" campaign sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

City council voted to place a proposal for $295,000 city hall and auditorium on the Aug. 9 primary ballot at a special meeting. Only approval of WPA officials in Columbus and of the state tax commission was necessary to make certain the proposal would be placed before the voters.

More than 350 guests attended the eighth annual garden party held by the All Arts club of Prospect at Patton Place, in Prospect. A featured presentation was "A Pageant of the Rose Jar" directed by Miss Pauline Wyatt assisted by Miss Ruth Hecker and Mrs. D. F. Stone.

Mrs. Henry Hoffman was elected president and Mrs. Tom Greenland secretary-treasurer at a meeting of the Senior Starlight club at the home of Mrs. Hoffman on East Mark street.

Rev. Carl V. Roop was given an unanimous call to return for his 10th year as pastor of First United Brethren church at a meeting of the church board.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Friday, June 29, 1928.

Senator Joe T. Robinson of Arkansas was nominated at the Democratic national convention in Houston, Texas, as the running mate for Al Smith, presidential nominee.

Mrs. Harry S. Kelleher of Carhart street left for a visit with relatives in Tiffin and Willard.

Rev. Robert L. Stubbs of Evanston, Ill., a former Marion man, accepted a position as pastor of the Community church at White Fish Bay, Wis.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Brown of Glad street.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Danner of Girard avenue and Mr. and Mrs. Willis Arthur of North Main street left for a two weeks' vacation in the east.

Miss Lena Mattix of Waldo and Harold Cook of Cardington were united in marriage by Rev. Earl L. Holliday at the Emmanuel Baptist church parsonage on North Main street.

Bad Machinery, Good Results

By Raymond Moley

PHILADELPHIA

NO doubt, if any one could think up another way of nominating presidential candidates it would have been tried long ago. For the national convention is the most criticized and most inefficient of American political institutions. The recent show at Philadelphia, however, demonstrated how sensible men can get good results with bad machinery.

Out of the pandemonium that prevailed in the Quaker City emerged a candidate who was undoubtedly the choice of most Republican voters and a platform that fairly represents the thinking of many millions of Americans.

MOLEY

The presidential preference primary, which idealists 40 years ago believed to be a way of making nominations more democratic, has utterly failed. Real primary contests took place in only five states. In all other states delegates, chosen in all sorts of ways, were in the main uninstructed. They were footloose and free. They were far from being supermen and women. They represented the run of the mill. They worked under great difficulties. Hotels and streets were crowded. Communication was chaotic. The convention sessions were in unbelievable disorder.

Lots of Grapevines

Rumors were so thick that nobody knew what to believe. And for months supposedly expert writers were saying a deadlock was inevitable. But common sense won out. There was no deadlock. No smoke-filled room. No dark horse. No apparent corruption. No loss of self-control.

And there were no bosses in the traditional sense of the word. True some people had more influence than others. And some thought they had more influence than they actually had. In one notable instance a self-styled boss without consultation tried to commit his state, and all he accomplished was a net loss to himself and his own state. In many states, like New Jersey and Pennsylvania, efforts to swing labor blocks of votes here and there were frustrated by the preference and determination of the delegates themselves. The old-fashioned boss, like Penrose, Hanna or Platt, is for the moment conspicuous by his absence. The average delegate was the kingmaker this time.

Admittedly Some Defects

This is not to say the efforts should not be made to improve the operation of the convention system. The radio and television are exposing to the public at large more and more of the glaring defects of the institution. Speeches were too long and too numerous. There was too much horseplay. There was little chance for rational deliberation. There were too many delegates.

A convention with 300 delegates could do a better job. This reduction in size would tend to more orderly proceedings. It would be easier to check and to follow. But this time this American monstrosity defied all the dire predictions of its critics.

Road Funds

National Highway Users Conference statisticians estimate that diversion of highway user taxes to non-highway purposes has cost the United States public at least $3,000 miles of highways.

Had this money been spent for roads as it was collected during the 1931-1946 period 97,083 miles of 22-foot roadway could have been built with the $2,236,965,000 which was diverted, the survey showed.

The conference pointed out that this is more than twice the total mileage of the proposed interstate highway system, which has been termed a vital national defense and peacetime need.

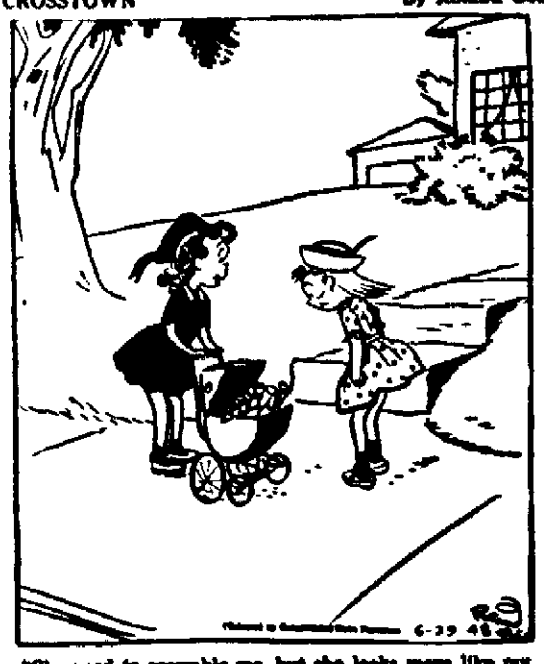
The conference reports that 20 states already have constitutional amendments against diversion, and more are voting on them this year.

At the recent highway transportation congress, representatives of hundreds of highway users organizations recommended to congress that federal aid funds be withheld from states which divert their own road funds. They also called for exclusion from the federal highway system of toll roads which in some states have been proposed as a means of supplying highway needs resulting from past diversion.

Daily Bible Thought

God is within us and all about us. Proud, selfish, cynical people neither see nor hear Him. A pure heart is the key to seeing God everywhere.—Matt. 5:8. "Blessed are the pure in heart, for they shall see God."

CROSSTOWN By Roland Coe



"She used to resemble me, but she looks more like my brother now, since she was left out in the rain all night."

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Second Thoughts On a Philadelphia Interlude

ONE of the two midsummer vocal redos and voice throwing Olympics as a thing of the past. The crumpled garment television circus for June is ended. Two thousand aching feet are in the hot tub. The American public can now return to professional entertainment for a couple of weeks.

• • •

Philadelphia has been given back to Connie Mack.

• • •

Video turned a great democratic process into a "People Are Funny" radio program.

• • •

It was the first convention ever broadcast by television, the new art of delivering every candidate's freckle, wart or baldspot by air. Clark Gable could have won the nomination if the people had the vote.

• • •

Tom Dewey is the Owosso boy who made good in the city the country baritone who became the national basso, the wonder kid who made the underworld cry "uncle" and who will now star in an act entitled "From Choir Loft to White House."

• • •

He started out to be a singer. But for a twist of fate he might have been listening to the convention from the chorus of the Metropolitan Opera instead of finding himself in the male lead of a musicalesque thriller "The Philadelphia Story."

• • •

Tom now sings only in the shower where 548 votes are not required for approval.

• • •

Only a few years back he was studying law at Columbia and singing on the side to make both ends meet. And both ends in those days were not guarded by sergeants at arms.

• • •

He decided to turn from "Oh Promise Me" and "Pale Hands" to "Where Were You on the Night in Question" and "Answer Yes or No." Luck was with the boy all the way. Instead of compelling him to put in long years of lost weekends with some obscure law firm, fate picked him as a Sir Galahad at an hour when the underworld has most Americans hiding under the rug. He was picked to jug the gangsters and did it so fearlessly and with so much gusto that the housegows had to add special wings for late arrivals.

• • •

He fastened himself in the public eye as a combination of Dick Tracy, Terry and the Pirates, Jack Armstrong, The All American Boy and Jack the Giant Killer with touches of Teddy Roosevelt, Grover Cleveland and Billy Sunday. Before he knew it he was such a national figure that even his bad golf swing couldn't keep him down.

• • •

At first as a national figure Tom seemed right out the deep freeze unit, but he was warmed up oftener than Joe Page and is now a smoothy who can make friends and influence people. He has youth, vigor all his hair and good video presence. There is about him the manner of a man who can go the full nine innings without a call for relief pitching.

• • •

Should he become President he will be in a tougher spot than he ever was when called on to fight the underworld. One thing is certain toughies, national or global, will not scare him. He may even order Joe Stalin to take the stand and come clean.

• • •

But the Democrats have the consolation of having beaten him once.

• • •

There will now be a two weeks' intermission for recuperation from the American public before the Demmies start calling the roll and polling the delegations.

Cotton Corners

By TRUMAN TWILL

Dear Nephew: As I warned you in my letter a week ago, nothing of importance has happened here this week except that I have done some of the fanciest politicking ever seen in these or any other parts.

As you know, I've never been any nearer to a political convention than the time I sat with you in the press section at Cleveland in 1936. I got a kick out of that, as you know, but where I get my real pleasure is in listening to the things. It's like listening to a baseball game—the experts who tell you what's going on know more than any ordinary spectator ever sees or hears.

I wonder how much longer it will be until politicians realize that this is so and that the time has come to do something constructive about national conventions. They're big time stuff on the radio now but they're still being run as if radio never had been heard of. They made several concessions to television this year but there was no real improvement.

Just in case the politicians don't realize it, the people are beginning to wonder about the kind of hoopla that conventions play up so heavy. Maybe the politicians should send scouts out to the crossroads and hear what people are saying. Sure they say good things about the good things they hear such as the speech by former President Hoover on Tuesday night, but mostly they think the speech-making is horseradish and that goes double for those demonstrations that break loose at the first mention of a candidate's name.

In fact the politicians themselves think so. One of them, Senator McCarthy of Wisconsin, said so over the air the night they were doing the nominating. He said the demonstration didn't change any votes and as much as said they were a waste of time and effort. If that's the way politicians feel about what they're doing, can they blame outsiders for wondering why a lot of grown people should act like children just because there's a convention going on?

I think there's a great opportunity for the first political party that puts its conventions on a dignified basis and gets across the idea that it is through with hoopla that may have been hot stuff when I was a boy but is beginning to sound mighty corny as the country and me grow up. No one had more fun than I did in those old-fashioned red-fire and malarkey campaigns, but after all I'm a darned sight older than I was then and things have changed for the better. I wouldn't enjoy a movie of 25 years ago—and I submit that screaming and whistling and "spontaneous" demonstrations that don't have any effect on the way the delegates vote are just as out of date.

I think I made the same objection in 1940 and 1944 and you know how far I got—exactly nowhere. And I have no doubt that in 1952 things will be the same also in 1956 and 1960 unless television finally does what ordinary radio so far hasn't been able to do, which is to take the red fire out of national political conventions.

Everything here is fine. Your offspring are gaining weight, confidence, color experience and all the know-how that I can pass along to them in the short vacation time at my command.

AUTO OUTPUT STILL SLUMPS

Operations Below Postwar Average; Chevrolet Shutdown Crimps Level.

By DAVID J. WILKIE
Associated Press Automotive Editor

DETROIT, June 29 — The car industry's operations this week continued below postwar average with much of the heavy-producing Chevrolet division idle.

The Chevrolet shutdown was part of General Motors' program of one week suspensions for each of its vehicle divisions because of materials shortages But for the GM closings this week's output probably would have come close to the record level of the year so far—116,786 units produced during the week ended Feb 28

The trade paper Automotive News estimated this week's United States assemblies at 87,160 cars and trucks compared with last week's revised estimate of 103,319 vehicles Ward's Automotive Reports put this week's total at 87,320 units compared with last week's 103,535

Prospects Ahead Better

A considerably better production level is in prospect for the weeks immediately ahead although General Motors' supply situation is somewhat uncertain Each of its various vehicles divisions has lost at least two weeks during the last couple of months because of materials shortages GM attributes the scarcities to the effects of the coal mining tie up earlier this year

Meanwhile the industry is more optimistic over production prospects for July and August with settlement of the most recent coal dispute. Uninterrupted coal production, the car makers believe, should assure at least some upturn in steel deliveries

Ward's Automotive Reports estimated June output at the United States at 214,664 cars and 117,488 trucks.

The current week's production brought the total so far this year to 2,695,488 units Nearly 700,000 of these have been trucks and buses.

Trade circle gossip has it now that Buick and Oldsmobile will be among the first of General Motors' divisions to bring out 1949 models, probably in January although there is a variation of present planning.

Chrysler Holds Secret

Chrysler's new model planning continues to be a closely held secret. Ward's Reports, comment this week on that planning, said "The prevailing tool and die craftsmen's strike is having some effect on Chrysler new model tooling, but the degree is not too great since the corporation's 1949 designs are more or less in a static state, especially in view of the recent public presentations of new Ford cars

"Late information is that the (Chrysler) corporation's new models will not be offered until after the turn of the year."

Motors was first offered (changed with raised borders and fluted or grooved edges) to prevent the fender-to-fender removal and to protect rooms from wear

Your Good Health

By DR. MORRIS H. [illegible]

Case of Confusing Symptoms

I have often said that in order to discover the true nature of disease a physician needs the keenness of a detective and many of his methods.

Nowhere is this more necessary than in dealing with a certain type of severe chest pain due to irritation of the nerves at the point where they leave the spinal cord. This condition, known as radiculitis, causes pain so nearly identical with that of coronary thrombosis that it can fool even experienced heart specialists

Coronary thrombosis is a disorder in which a blood clot forms in one of the arteries which supply the heart with blood and demands an entirely different treatment from radiculitis Thus, it is of the greatest importance that the two disorders be distinguished

The pain in radiculitis like that of coronary thrombosis is often limited to the area under the breast bone or under the heart but it may pass into the left arm or into the neck The distress may be severe or prolonged. Pallor and excessive sweating may occur during an attack. Some difficulty with the breathing may develop in some cases, with rapid shallow breathing and the inability to take a deep breath

Radiculitis may be caused by arthritis or inflammation of the joints of the upper part of the spine

If the upper part of the spine is affected, the neck may be stiff and painful. The muscles also are stiff and tender and there may be difficulty in turning the head Pain in the back part of the head and dizziness are also occasionally present

The pain due to radiculitis usually can be quickly relieved Manipulations or movements of the spine are helpful. The physician may prescribe exercise to correct posture and the use of a board in bed to stiffen the mattress

In radiculitis, the pain may occur at night when the patient turns in bed or it may develop during the day when a person stands up after having been seated for a prolonged period It may also develop with sudden bending or other movement of the back Symptoms may develop during a walk and stop upon resting

This occurrence of sudden pain during exercise and its cessation when the exercise is stopped may cause the pain to be confused with that due to angina pectoris in which there is pain over the heart, due to a spasm of the coronary blood vessels

Questioning, however will bring out the fact that the pain ceases when the patient attempts to find a more comfortable position by straightening the spine and throwing the shoulders back The pain of angina would not be influenced by such movements

All of these symptoms are so like those brought on by a heart attack that only the most careful and clever work on the part of the doctor will reveal their true significance.

Questions and Answers

L. S. K. What causes barber's itch? Is there a cure?

Answer Barber's itch is really ringworm of the beard. The infection may occur from direct contact with contaminated articles such as combs and brushes. Sometimes it results from association with infected cats, dogs, horses, cattle and even birds.

In the treatment, the beard should be kept short and the diseased hairs removed by means of X-ray treatments Ointments containing ammoniated mercury and lotions containing sulphur may be applied. These measures usually clear up the trouble to renew the lease for a year on the same terms provided option to renew is taken no later than five months prior to July 1, 1948.

COUNCIL

Biggert Protests

Councilman Biggert charged that in making the new council was taking the easy way out.

"The city has been a renter for as long as I can remember and I've been here 32 years", he declared I thought this council had guts enough to initiate action to acquire a city owned building This measure is just a repetition of the same old story he said pointing to the fact the new lease freezes the city in its present quarters for another two years.

Up for vote as an emergency measure to place it in effect as of July 1 the lease failed on the first vote Councilman Biggert being joined in opposition by Councilmen Herman Rhinehart Third ward Herman Miller Fifth ward and Clarence Sanden, Sixth ward

The 5 4 vote enough to pass but short of the two-thirds majority necessary to give the measure emergency status, would have merely delayed the lease from becoming effective for a thirty day period

After Mayor Dowler commented that the council action would merely cost the city another months rent at the $700 figure, a second vote was called. Councilman Biggert reversed his vote with the acrimonious remark "I'll say 'yes' but I mean 'no'"

Along with several other members of council including Councilman-At-Large Harold Robinson, Mr Biggert had been championing the cause of a new city hall

Action on Sewer

Following up a request of residents of the east and southeast section of the city including the newer residential section south of Mt Vernon avenue for a storm water diversion sewer council authorized City Engineer Tom S Cathers to go ahead with plans and estimates for the job

Petition for the diversion sewer was presented council at its last session and given emergency status due to the inadequate storm sewer facilities now serving that area The engineers plans call for a four-foot sewer running south from Indiana avenue to the Quaqua open ditch It was planned as a diversionary measure to relieve the overload carried by the present system virtually the length of the city west via the Columbia street trunk sewer It will afford relief to residents in the Columbia street area it was said in addition to residents more seriously threatened in the eastern and southeastern area of the city In view of the large number of residents affected construction was given a top priority

Bus Route Action

The Marion Rapid Transit Co's present routes and time schedule which went into effect April 1 for a trial period as a result of council demand for increased service, were given permanent status under the bus company's franchise with the city when council last night unanimously accepted the present operating schedule The present schedule despite cutting several early morning and late at night buses from the previous schedule extendad service in the North Main street Oak street and Bennett street sections in addition to adding additional runs to existing loops including Mt Vernon avenue.

A delegation of residents of the North State street section seeking construction of a sanitary sewer were given estimates of construction costs by the city engineer No sanitary sewers have ever been laid in that section of the city despite agitation by residents over the past ten years

Estimate of Cost

The project covering State, Harrison Hughes Elk and Hazen streets was estimated at $43 242 03 An additional project on Fairview street was estimated by the engineer to cost $18 272.86 City share of the total cost is two per cent plus cost of intersections

Despite the high rate of cost residents remained firm in their request for a sewer "We've got to have it no matter how high the cost may be" a spokesman declared To initiate the project 60 per cent of the affected street petition the city for its construction.

Other measures passed by council included authorization for the safety service director to acquire two ditch easements necessary for construction of the new airport, authorization to the Ohio Public Service company to relocate a light pole at the northeast corner of South State streets and East Church street at the expense of the Gulf Refining Co in connection with a new service station, and an ordinance providing issuance of notes in anticipation of the special assessments and bond issue covering sanitary and storm water sewer construction job on Bennett street, Nye street and Glad street

PREDICTS GOP VOTE IN SOUTH

Martin Forecasts Some Going Into Republican Column in November.

By International News Service

WASHINGTON, June 29 — House Speaker Martin (R) of Massachusetts, predicted today that the Republican party will break into the solid south again for the second time in 20 years in the November presidential election.

Rep Martin anticipated that Virginia will vote for Thomas E. Dewey, Republican presidential nominee, and Earl Warren, his vice-presidential running mate.

He thinks that all the border states — Kentucky, Tennessee, West Virginia and Maryland, especially Tennessee—might go Republican, and forecast house gains in Virginia and Florida, which are now solidly represented in Washington by Democrats.

Speaker Martin, the permanent chairman of the Republican national convention, predicted a gain of "at least" 25 seats, including three in California, by the GOP in the house.

Talk that some of the states south of the Mason-Dixon line might go Republican again arose as a result of President Truman's advocacy of the so-called civil rights program in congress, which the southern members opposed.

Rep Martin declined to predict how many states he thinks the Dewey-Warren ticket will carry. Pressed for "a guess," however, he states:

"If I were the Republican national chairman and were asked to predict the outcome, I would say we would carry all the states north of the Mason-Dixon line and half of those below."

The speaker asserted that the selection of Dewey and Warren made it certain that New York and California would go Republican. He added:

"With those two states in the bag you've practically won the election."

New York has 47 electoral votes and California 25, or a total of 72 out of the 218 needed to elect a president.

Politics Gets Blame For Hollywood Divorce

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, June 29—Arguments over politics drove a wedge between actress Jane Wyman 32 and actor Ronald Reagan, 36, she testified in obtaining a divorce.

She said it wasn't so much that she disagreed with her husband but that she couldn't generate the intense interest he showed in politics and in the Screen Actors Guild, of which he is president.

"Finally, there was nothing in common between us," she said, nothing to sustain our marriage."

Miss Wyman was given the decree yesterday.

Democratic Faction Beats Eisenhower Drums Again

By The Associated Press

Anti-Truman Democrats pounded their Eisenhower-for-President drums with fresh vigor today.

Elliott Roosevelt set off the parade by disclosing a new letter from the general which he said made him optimistic Eisenhower could not refuse "a true draft movement" at the Democratic national convention.

The son of the late president read the letter last night at a New York rally sponsored by the Americans for Democratic action. He said it was written June 15 to Louis E. Schwartz, an ADA official. The letter said:

"When I made a public statement last January referring to a possible political career, I did it only after earnest study to determine the field in which I might possibly be of some future usefulness.

"I am anxious to do my duty, but felt that it was my own problem to determine whether or not a sense of duty could call me into the political field."

Silenced GOP Effort

It was last January that Eisenhower now president of Columbia university, signed a similar effort by some Republicans to stir a draft make at the GOP convention. Since then he has repeatedly reaffirmed that position.

Another Democratic group meanwhile sought to arrange a meeting with the general today. Harry Carlson New Hampshire Democratic national committeeman, said last night that he and party leaders from several southern states would seek the Eisenhower interview. The general's office said, however, that his calendar "is filled with university appointments."

But Senator J. Howard McGrath (D-RI) told a New York news conference last night he does not "regard General Eisenhower as a candidate." The national Democratic party chairman added that he expects President Truman to be nominated on the first ballot at the Philadelphia sessions opening July 12.

McGrath said he doesn't "look for any difficulty with the delegates from the southern states."

District of Columbia Democrats, however, showed a sharp division of opinion in their primary balloting yesterday. Only 471 votes were recorded, and while Mr Truman won the six-vote delegation by a 236 tally, Eisenhower piled up 181 write-in votes.

Discord in South

Another note which jarred with McGrath's first ballot victory predictions came from the director of the Southern States' Rights group which is opposing Mr. Truman's nomination.

J. O. Emmerich announced in McComb, Miss., that 15 Dixie and border state governors have indicated they will attend an anti-Truman caucus in Philadelphia the day before the national convention.

In the border state of Kentucky, meanwhile, two United Mine Workers officials sounded a call for labor to support Senator Alben Barkley (D-Ky) for the presidency. They said union members should oppose Mr. Truman.

To that, third party presidential candidate Henry A. Wallace agreed. In a speech in Berlin, N. H., he said "labor is not getting its just deserts from our present foreign policy of spending vast sums in adventures overseas." He added:

"Corporations are making a profit four times greater than during the war and have money to pay wages as high as 1945-46."

The administration's conduct of foreign policy was slated to be the major target of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey when he launches the Republican presidential campaign.

Today, only the best-fitted prospects are being accepted by the Air Force. But young men who measure up will have a choice of unequaled opportunities. Here they are:

1 By enlisting for three years, you may choose assignment in the U. S. Air Force.

2 If you are a high school graduate, between 17 and 24 years old, the Aviation Career Plan allows you to select and qualify for any one of more than 40 Air Force Specialist Schools before you enlist.

3 Veterans of the Armed Forces who are qualified in one of 300 skills and trades may re-enter service in advanced non-commissioned Air Force grades commensurate with their previous training and experience.

4 You can win your wings with the Aviation Cadets. The world's finest pilot training is open to you if you are single, 20 to 26½ years old, and have completed at least half the credits for a college degree, or can pass an equivalent examination.

High pay . . . excellent training . . . interesting, vital work . . . these, too, are important considerations and strong reasons for launching your career in the Air Force. Complete details on each opportunity are available at U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Stations.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

I CAUGHT a startled exclamation back at Mary's question. Here was another bit of skepticism added to Faith's uncanny pronouncement, and my own secret, fantastic conjecture.

"What do you mean?" I substituted feebly.

"'Elementary, Watson,'" she gibed. "If during Mr 'K' had an FBI hush-hush' message to your father, and you were in the offing, he might have sent it by you and Uncle Dicky together but he never would have put you up on the shelf, and sent it by Uncle Dicky alone."

"No, no, darling," she went on, "you've been taken on. Listen, was that message transmitted to you by Uncle Dicky alone, or was Grandpa Spencer around, too?"

"They were both there. I said.

"That relieves my mind," she said with a laugh. "If all the dope came from Uncle Dicky, I might suspect a beauteous female somewhere outside the hotel, but as long as your father was in on it, the layout is clear. He and your husband are planning something together which they do not intend to let you in on just yet."

"I'm inclined to agree with your opinion." I told her. 'And Faith's," I added with a reminiscent smile.

"Faith's?" she questioned, and I told her of the child's startling reaction to what she had overheard, and her observance of the surreptitious winks which my father and Dicky had exchanged.

"That child," Mary said, "either is going to be the president someday, or she's going to join the gypsies and tell fortunes. She's positively uncanny. But I'm sure she has this particular thing straight. They're cooking up some sort of a surprise for you. I wonder what it is."

"Better not waste any time in speculation," I told her. "I can't I won't know anything until they choose to tell me so suppose we drop it, and get on with the program."

"My ears are bending outward," she said, settling herself against her pillows, "except that I am worried about getting the news of our going day after tomorrow to Noel."

"I'm sure your uncle won't be gone all the morning," I told her. "If he is, Noel's father surely will be around, and can go down and break the news to him."

"That's right," she said with an air of relief. "All right, what's the rest of the dope?"

"Olga and Olina want you and me to go up to their apartment as soon as possible to talk over the plans for the wedding."

She looked at me shrewdly.

"Sure you didn't suggest my coming along?" she asked.

"Cross my heart, and all the rest of Faith's oaths," I said. "I never mentioned your name. But both Olina and Olga did, separately."

There was a pleased gleam in her eyes at my assurance, but her verbal reaction was characteristically indifferent.

"I haven't the slightest idea what I could contribute to the plans," she said, "but I'll be at their service for anything they want."

"I think you've already made two most valuable contributions," I said.

"For the love of Peter, will you name them?" she demanded, frankly puzzled.

"One," I said, "when you told Olina that if Georges had any objection to having Noel as best man, it would be because he was jealous of Noel on account of that old betrothal between him and Olina, and had nothing to do with you."

"I'll acknowledge the corn on that one," she said. "Now, what's the other one?"

WARNS OF DANGER ON POWER LINES

Flying Kites and Model Planes May Bring Death.

Death lurks for the unwary person who flies kites, model airplanes and other aerial toys near electric lines warned H J Grigsby vice president and division manager of the Ohio Public Service Co today

No electric wire is ever 100 percent safe and the person who flies kites and model airplanes near these wires can never know whether the wire is an electric transmission line until it is too late Mr Grigsby said Every man woman and child should know that no loose electric wire should ever be touched If a person comes in contact with an energized wire he should not be touched by a second party unless that party knows fully how to cope with the situation or two injuries and deaths may result instead of one rescue

"There is great danger in flying a kite or model airplane if it comes in contact with electric wires If the string of the kite is damp or the kite or airplane should have metal parts injury or even death of the operator can and may result Unfortunately many deaths result each year from such unfortunate accidents throughout the country In some instances, even fine wire has been used to fly airborne objects This means certain death for the operator if the flown object or the wire controlling it should come in contact particularly with a transmission line wire

"Those accidents are not confined to flying kites Model airplane and other airborne toys flown through the air with strings and wires controlling them can bring the same tragic results if contact with a transmission wire occurs Every patient and every child should be impressed that nothing should be flown in an area that has wires running through it While few accidents occur on distribution lines there can be no absolute assurance that 100 percent safety exists there Mr Grisby said

FOUR COUNTY YOUTHS IN CAR-TRAIN CRASH

Mary Kline of Near Caledonia Suffers Concussion.

Four Marion county young people were involved in an automobile-train crash Sunday afternoon at a New York Central crossing on Route 178 between Mt Victory and Bene Center One of the group was hospitalized.

Involved in the crash were Miss Mary Kline, 14, daughter of Mr and Mrs Lawrence Kline of near Caledonia, who is in San Antonio hospital in Kenton suffering from a slight brain concussion, Charles Ruth, 17, son of Mr and Mrs John Ruth of near Marion, driver of the car Miss Lois Kimball, 17, and her brother Edward Kimball, 15, children of Mr and Mrs E C Kimball of Harding Highway East.

The young people were on their way to Indian Lake for a picnic when the accident occurred at about 3 o'clock. They had left Marion around 2. According to the Kimball boy, when they approached the crossing they slowed down and looked both ways but couldn't see very far to the right because of high weeds and they heard no train whistle as they went on across. He said they were just about across when the train struck the rear of the car, wrecking the car around and throwing it into a ditch.

Both the Ruth boy and Lois Kimball, riding in the front seat, were thrown clear by the impact. Charles Ruth suffered scratches on his shoulder, and Lois Kimball was treated at San Antonio hospital for cuts on her knees and hands.

Mary Kline's condition is reported to be "not serious." She was unconscious when taken to the hospital and still loses consciousness at intervals Young Kimball was not injured.

MISS MARIRUTH FORD

WINS BEAUTY TITLE, DESPITE CHURCH BAN

By The Associated Press

WHEELING W Va, June 29 —An 18-year-old girl who defied a threat of expulsion from the Catholic church is "Miss Wheeling" today

Competing against six other girls last night, Miss Mariruth Ford won the right to compete for a $2 000 scholarship and the title of "Miss West Virginia" in a statewide contest to be held in Moundsville in August The state winner will enter the Miss America contest in Atlantic City

Two girls withdrew from the contest when Bishop John J Swint of Wheeling said he would excommunicate any Catholic girl who participated

The bishop last week protested the "indecent exposure" of girls bodies in "totally pagan" beauty pageants, and said "How any girl can submit herself to that ordeal is beyond me."

The winner's father a grocer here, said it was "just a case of the church having one view and the parents another."

Miss Ford, who began to become an actress, weighs 120 pounds, is five feet three inches tall, and has light brown hair and green eyes In the course of her competition she appeared both in a one-piece bathing suit and in a full-skirted evening gown, and enacted part of a scene from the movie "Dark Victory"

Ashley Independents Down Orange, 11-3

Ashley Independents roared back into the win column yesterday after losing to Marion V.F.W. by downing Orange Twp., 11-3, behind the six hit pitching of Jarve Bryant and Harold Fathbruckner. Bryant, 20 year old pitcher-manager, allowed only one run in the two innings he hurled before turning over mound duties to Fathbruckner. Fathbruckner blanked the Orange men for the next five innings before permitting two runs in the eighth. The Ashley nine pounded out 14 safeties as they easily downed the Townshippers. Next two games for Ashley will be played on the home field, with Galion Merchants furnishing the opposition.

NEW MIAMI ASSISTANT

By The Associated Press

OXFORD, O., June 30—Miami university signed Warren Schmakel as an assistant football coach yesterday. Schmakel has been University of Toledo line coach the last two years.

Over 300 Horses Expected For Matinee Club's 18-Day Meet

An excited roar from the stands will echo to cries of "They're off" next Monday night as Marion's colorful sulky races get under way.

Over 300 horses representing leading stables of the country will move into Marion shortly for the 18-day Little Grand Circuit harness racing program. Eight events will be run every night, except Sunday, through July 24. Post time will be 8 P.M.

Before Monday's racing, the Matinee club, which is sponsoring the races this year will hold a barbecue for horsemen competing. More than 500 horsemen, Matinee club members, and their guests are expected to attend the event at the fairgrounds. Louis Wiehe-sham, Carl Call, and Jack Smyth are in charge.

Next Monday night's opener at the fairgrounds will be featured by Mayor Harry Dowler Inaugural 19 class pace for a purse of $1,500. This race will be run in sections of 9/10 and a mile.

Ohio Well Represented

Ohio will be well represented according to Orlow Owen, general manager. Walter Dispennett, who trains for Charles England of Marion, is shipping in from St. Louis. Gene Earl, C. R. Jordon and Charles Rutherford of Marion will arrive July 3 at the close of the Billiard meet.

A big building program is in progress at the fairgrounds. More box seats are being added for the anticipated crowd and crew specialists are repairing the track which was left in poor shape after the rodeo. A press box and photo-finish booth also are being constructed.

The Matinee club has contracted with the Maywood organization of Chicago to run the races and handle betting. Officers of the Matinee club are Dr. J. G. McNamara, president, and Frank Foster, vice president.

The Women's Board of the City hospital will receive money from advance sale tickets.

Ohio owners and drivers include Lee Huber of Cincinnati, A. G. Gordon of Washington C. H., James Edwards of Cendit, Mrs. Daisy Haines of Richwood, John A. Baker of Medina, R. C. Mason of Mt. Vernon, Forrest Webb of London, Delbert Haines of Richwood, John Taylor of London, Charles Norris of Plain City, Val Grandstaff of Croton, Buss Edwards of Centerburg, and Lynn Wilson of Zanesville.

Other Drivers

Other Ohio owners and drivers who will be here are Fred E. Van Matre of London, C. A. Newhart of Waldo, Doc McMillan of London, Dean Edwards and sons of Galena, Charles Sims of Waldo, A. A. Coder of Cardington, and the Welch brothers of Columbus.

Among the out-of-staters are L. O. Charlesworth of Sarnia, Ont., Malcom Carr of Northville, Mich., James Winfield of Rome, Ga., and Earl and Jim Carriveau of Northville, Mich.

St. Mary No. 1 Defeats F. C. B., 20-3, for Sixth Straight Win

St. Mary No. 1 Church loop softball team kept its unbeaten status following a game with the First Church of Brethren last night, taking a 17 run winning margin behind the three hit pitching of Dick Moran to capture a 20-3 verdict.

Epworth and Forest Lawn held to a second place tie in league standing with records of 5-1, by downing Trinity Baptists and Greenwood by respective scores of 8-2 and 6-5 in a pair of tight games.

Oakland forfeited to St. Mary No. 2, to give the Irish a 3-3 record, when only three players appeared for the contest.

Next week marks the end of the first round of play in the circuit, and as the teams now stand only a defeat by St. Mary at the hands of Forest Lawn can change the complexion of the outcome. In the games which will be played July 9 instead of July 5 due to the holiday, the best that Forest Lawn can hope for is a tie with the Irish, forcing an extra playoff game. If Epworth, who also has a 5-1 record should win, the lead will be thrown into a three-way tie.

In yesterday's games, the story is simply that St. Mary has too much hitting power for F.C.B. Trinity had a tougher time of it, dropping a victory to Epworth in the final frame when two runs came in on a pair of walks and an error after leading throughout the tilt. Forest Lawn led Greenwood by a score of 6-2 through most of the game but got a real scare when Greenwood tallied three runs in the last two innings. The tying run died on second when the last man up flied out. Forest Lawn's Hawkins allowed only seven hits and Greenwood's M. Donaugh permitted 12.

SMITTY'S MEN WIN BUT MAIDS LOSE

Smitty's All Stars went all out to take their seventh NCO league tilt, against two losses, in downing Willard here, 3-1. The Maids suffered their second reverse in 11 contests, going down before the Columbus Independents, 4-0.

Evelyn Fehy appears to have the Maids' number, having shut them out by the same score, 4-0, on three occasions over a period of years. On the one occasion that the Maids were permitted to win, they also won by a score of 4-0.

Walters, Wilcox and Anderson were chief batsmen for the locals, with Anderson icing the game in the sixth with a homer with one on. The All Stars will play their next league game Thursday on the Willard diamond.

ALL QUIET ON O-I LOOP FRONT

Battle for Loop Flag Opens Again Tonight.

All was quiet on the Ohio-Indiana front last night, the only game scheduled—Muncie at Lima—being rained out.

But the battle for championship of the league opens on four fronts tonight. Marion goes to Springfield to meet the second-place Giants, seventh-place Lima meets the third-place A's at Portsmouth, Newark plays Richmond in Indiana, and the fourth-place Zanesville Dodgers take on the leading Reds at Muncie.

For all of the eight teams in the Class D loop it will be the final series of the month of June, a disastrous month as far as Marion is concerned.

The Cubs entered June in third place, only 4½ games off the pace set by Springfield and Muncie. With only two games yet to be played this month, the Cubs are in sixth place, 11½ games behind. They won 11 while losing 9. At home they just about broke even, but lost on the road.

On the most recent home stand, the Cubs won five and lost five.

One of the most surprising results of the home stand was the climb in batting average attained by Manager Zeke Bekeza, who is now batting .303 after spending most of the season in the low 200's.

Don Schmitt the club's leading home run hitter with seven to his credit, also has surged up and now is only two points off 300.

The batting leader is still Bill Bolduc, though Gene Bobzean looks like a good bet to take over the honor if he keeps up at the clip he's going. Bolduc is batting .328, and Bobzean, who has been at bat but 79 times, is batting .342.

Softball Slants

By GEORGE SCOTT

Last Thursday night Universal Cooler met Huber Manufacturing in a softball game that had a setting right out of Hollywood.

Here were the two strongest teams in Industrial league No. 1 battling it out. Huber's only defeat had been a humiliating 8-0 loss handed the club by Universal Cooler.

For seven and half innings the game was scoreless. Then Joe Paulus of Universal Cooler smacked one. George Keel, a coach at Harding High school, threw wild to third and Paulus scored. That's the way the score ended—1 to 0.

This game is an example of the exciting soft ball played in Industrial League No. 1 every Thursday night.

SOME OF THE reasons for Universal Cooler's six wins and no defeat record are Jimmie Kunkle who has hurled three one hitters this year and long ball hitters like Charlie Reid, Bobby Virden, Lloyd Hart, Joe Paulus, and Dick Mulvaine. Bill Darnell manages the club.

Their toughest competition has been Huber Manufacturing with four victories and two losses. Ted Anderson, a grand old name in Marion sports, manages the team. Ted lost an eye but it never has proved a handicap in his hitting and catching. Harold Millisor, Pete Howison, and George Keel have played good ball this season. Both Howison and Keel are coaches at Harding High school.

In third place with a three won, three lost record, Fairfield Engineering's hopes rest on Calvin Lamberson and his pitching. His control and steady hurling have won games for the club. Frank Gatfield manages the team.

Marion Power Shovel is managed by Elmer Smith, a member of the commission and long active in Marion sports. The team has outstanding pitching in Sonny Tallor and Dwight Wilcox. They should better their record of two victories and four defeats.

Tied with Marion Power Shovel, Pollak Steel is managed by Philmore Kyle. Commercial Steel won the league pennant last year but are having a tough season in '47. Bob Scott is the team's manager.

During 1946 one patient was admitted to a hospital in the continental United States every two seconds on the average.

Twelve-Bout Fight Show Set At Armory Wednesday Night

The Marion Armory will be the scene of a 12-bout boxing show Wednesday night, as the fights resume after a three-week layoff. Lineup for the show will include such local boys as Jack Sackinger, Jim Redding, Harold Watts, Dick James, Johnny Hutchinson, Verlin White, Charles Ludwig, and Russell Gorrell.

Headlining the 24 rounds of amateur sock 'em—rock 'em will be Sackinger and Redding. Both boys will meet Springfield fighters, with Sackinger billed to scuffle with Bob Furnsley in a welterweight setup and Redding, as materials, so to speak, Ray Hammond in a lightweight bout. Sackinger will enter the ring with a special bandage protecting his good left hand, which he recently pierced with a meat hook.

Dick James is scheduled to scrap with Gene Ayers of Mansfield in the featherweight division, and Johnny Hutchinson, a new fighter, will tangle with Bill Franklin in the same class. Verlin White and Charles Ludwig will meet in one of two heavyweight fights on the program. Johnny Clevear of Springfield and a fighter from Columbus will tussle in the other.

Gene Burton of Springfield and Torpedo Tuttle of Mansfield are scheduled for a middleweight meeting, and Bill Eccles also of Mansfield, will engage Bob Ragslands of Springfield in that class.

Two Springfield bantamweights will stage an exhibition fight, and Russell Gorrell and Bobby Baker will mix-it in the paperweight class.

BOB KENNEDY MAY PITCH

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, June 30—Manager Lou Boudreau of the Cleveland Indians believes Bob Kennedy, recently acquired from the Chicago White Sox, may be converted from an infielder-outfielder into a pitcher. Boudreau said last night he would try Kennedy as a pitcher July 12 when the Tribe meets its Dayton farm club in an exhibition at Dayton.

TOLEDO WINS ON 2 KOKOS HOMERS

By The Associated Press

Dick Kokos, Toledo's rookie rightfielder, hit two home runs and drove in five runs last night to lead the Mud Hens to a 9 to 6 victory over St. Paul.

Kokos smashed his second home run in the 11th inning with two men on base to break a six-all tie and give Toledo a series-opener triumph. His first circuit blow in the first inning with one on gave the seventh place Hens a 2 to 0 lead.

League leading Indianapolis increased its lead over runner-up Milwaukee to 6½ games by downing Kansas City 3 to 1, in a game played under protest by the Blues after the third inning. The protest was lodged after a balk was called on pitcher Bill Wood. Jack Cassini, Indian second baseman, stole three bases, including theft of home in the fifth.

Pitcher Charlie Stanceu turned in his eighth victory of the season for Columbus as the Red Birds defeated Milwaukee 10 to 3 in the series opener. Stanceu scattered eight hits including Jim Fleeson's home run with one on in the fourth.

A three hitter by Bill Ayers stopped Louisville as Minneapolis won 5 to 0. Ayers walked only two and struck out six. He was aided by Elbie Fletcher's home run in the fourth with Babe Barna on base.

STARS ENTER OHIO STATE

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, June 30—Three Cathedral Latin High school football stars today reported they have enrolled in Ohio State university for the fall term. The new Buckeye hopefuls include Joe Campanella, 225-pound tackle, quarterback Bill Peterson and Roger Saunders.

DILLARD PREDICTS OLYMPIC VICTORY

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., June 30—America will win at least one Olympic Title at London this summer if Harrison Dillard is as classy at forecasting as he is at hurdling.

"I'm going to win those high hurdles in London," the Baldwin-Wallace college ace told 300 fans at a testimonial dinner in his honor last night.

"I don't want you to feel I'm boasting," the modest Negro star told the pre-Olympics gathering, "but that is the best way I can repay you for all you've done for me tonight."

Dillard, the first track star to hold all outdoor and indoor American crowns at one time, had ample grounds for his Olympics prediction.

He has cracked the accepted marks for both the 110-yard high hurdles and the 220-yard low hurdles while gliding to a new record of 80 straight triumphs during the last two years of track competition. He smashed the former consecutive victory streak of 65 set by Notre Dame's Greg Rice in a dual meet at Oxford, O.

Harrison clipped the American mark for the 220-yard lows in his final appearance at Baldwin-Wallace stadium Saturday with a 22.4 seconds performance. He shares the accepted record of 22.5 with Fred Wolcott of Rice institute and has hurdled the distance in the all-time low time of 22.3 seconds.

The Baldwin-Wallace senior was termed the "greatest performer who has ever participated in track" by his coach, Eddie Finnigan.

Top Relief Pitching Keeps Flag Contenders Riding High

By The Associated Press

Now is the time for all pennant-collarous managers to give a vote of thanks to those athletes who hold the most thankless job in baseball—the relief hurlers.

Never before have the majors boasted so many fine reason artists. As a matter of fact, Cleveland, Philadelphia and New York owe their lofty positions in the American league to the splendid work done by that game-saving crew. The same holds true of all the first division clubs in the National.

Last year both Bucky Harris and Burt Shotton, respectively managers of the Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers, were quick to admit that they never would have won the flag without their firemen, Joe Page and Hugh Casey.

This year numerous pitchers have come up to challenge Page and Casey for the No. 1 rating. Casey has been temporarily sidelined due to an injury, but Page is still carrying on in flawless style.

In Casey's place have loomed such relief hammerers as Tom Wilks of the St. Louis Cardinals, Clyde Shoun, Boston Braves, Russ Christopher and Ed Klieman, Cleveland Indians; Charley Harris and Bob Savage, Philadelphia Athletics, Sheldon Jones, New York Giants, Harry Gumbert, Cincinnati Reds, and Kirby Higbe, Pittsburgh Pirates.

Other fireman giving a good account of themselves this season include Ed Heusser, Philadelphia Phillies, Willard Ramsdell, Dodgers, Jess Dobernic Chicago Cubs; Earl Johnson, Boston Red Sox; Hal White, Detroit Tigers; Frank Biscan, St. Louis Browns and Tom Ferrick, Washington Senators.

The best relief work of the year day in and day out, probably is being turned in by Ted Wilks, the chunky little right-hander of the second place Cardinals. Wilks' won and lost record is not phenomenal. He has won three and lost two but that tells only part of the story.

Ted has appeared in 21 of the Cardinals' 61 games, all in relief. Besides the three he received credit for he has saved seven others. He has permitted only 25 hits in 45 innings.

RAY ROBINSON KEEPS WELTERWEIGHT TITLE

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 29 — Ray "Sugar" Robinson's 15-round decision over young Bernie Docusen to retain his welterweight crown is the story of a steak.

The machine-like Harlem slugger starved himself for two days to make the 147 pound weight limit. Then after tipping the scales at 146½ in yesterday's weigh in, he drank a quart of beef broth and gnawed through a two-pound broiled steak. This was his first solid food in 48 hours of forced dehydration to shed four or five pounds.

That hunk of beef did it. During most of last night's title defense at Comiskey Park ago set the 21-year-old New Orleans challenger six years his junior. Robinson was a blur of power and precision. He had to be to beat the "Dunk" a dead-pan, polished little Filipino who made the champion go the route. The decision was unanimous. Docusen weighed 144½.

When and if Robinson vacates the welterweight bracket, you can put Docusen down as one of the best bets to succeed him. "Sheog" weary of battling the scales to make the 147 limit, will move up to the 160 middleweight set if he can meet champion Tony Zale.

In Plain Words

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

THE presidential campaign ought to be pretty rough.

On one side are Governors Thomas E. Dewey of New York and Earl Warren of California looking for election as president and vice president.

On the other, President Truman, if the Democrats nominate him, and somebody, not even mentioned now, running for vice president.

There's as much guessing as to whether the Democrats will run Mr. Truman, that no one ever seems to guess about a vice presidential running mate for him.

Neither Dewey nor Warren has had any experience in the federal government or in Washington. Their biggest jobs have been as governors. So they can't very well be blamed for what has or hasn't happened here.

And both men have fine records as governors in their own states.

But Mr. Truman, as president for going on four years, has had to make decisions which his opponents certainly will attack.

So the position of the two parties will be something like this, unless this writer figures it wrong:

The Republicans will hang away at Mr. Truman, blaming him for what they'll say are his mistakes and failures.

Mr. Truman and the other Democrats will spend a lot of time banging away at the record of congress which the Republicans controlled.

MR. TRUMAN WILL SAY, as he has said I told congress to do this or that, but it refused.

Since all 435 seats in the house, and one-third of the senate seats are at stake in the November election, the Republican congress members not only will be fighting to help their party generally but to get themselves re-elected.

So Mr. Truman will get plenty of help in attacking the Republican congress from Democrats who want to get elected to congress.

All up and down the land the charges and counter-charges of failure will be flung around by both sides.

For both parties have a responsibility in what congress or Mr. Truman did or didn't do in the past four years.

The reason: The Democrats controlled congress from the start of 1945 through 1946, with Mr. Truman in the White House, the Republicans, with Mr. Truman still President, have been in control since 1946.

SENATOR TAFT of Ohio, for instance, were the Republican presidential candidate, the picture might be a little different.

Then Mr. Truman could fire shots directly at the Ohioan since Taft is Republican leader in the senate.

The same would be true if the Republican candidate were Speaker of the House Martin of Massachusetts, since he's Republican boss in the house.

Because of the national interest involved, most people probably have some familiarity with, and opinions on, what Mr. Truman and the Republican congress have done or not done.

But who in Texas, for example, is apt to know much about what Dewey has done in New York or Warren in California.

So the Republicans probably have more ammunition—familiar to the public—to shoot at Mr. Truman than he will to fire back at them.

Pays 10-Cent Toll, Then Jumps from Bay Bridge

By The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO, June 29—A middle-aged man paid his ten cents and walked to the center span of the Golden Gate bridge.

A couple of young men came by.

"Boys, I'm from Mexico City," said the man. "Will you give me a cigaret?"

They did and moved on. Twenty feet later, they heard a yell.

The man stood on the rail, flipped away the cigaret and jumped.

And so, at 1:18 p. m. yesterday, the Golden Gate bridge marked down the 100th suicide in its 11 years.

A Coast Guard boat plucked the broken body out of the water a short time later. Papers in a coat pocket gave the name of Fortunato Ornelar Anguinao, 53, dishwasher.

PVT. GUSIK HEADING TO RESUME IN SEPT.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 29—A habeas corpus hearing for Thomas A. Gusik, 19, Cleveland Army private convicted of slaying two Italian civilians, was scheduled today to resume in federal court Sept. 9.

Gusik took the stand yesterday to testify in his own behalf for the first time.

He said the counsel given him at his court martial told him not to testify at the original trial because "I'd be convicted if I took the stand."

Gusik said he was forced to sign a confession of the shooting which allegedly contained statements he did not make. His attorneys claimed the statement was obtained under duress, and that he was deprived of his constitutional rights. They charged the Army court martialed the Clevelander "to appease the Italian populace."

Gusik currently is serving a 14-year sentence in the U. S. reformatory at Chillicothe. He originally received a life term.

Federal Judge Mell G. Underwood continued the hearing to Sept. 9 after listening to evidence yesterday. The question whether Underwood had jurisdiction consumed much of the time. The court decided to hear the case and rule on its jurisdiction later.

Underwood gave Gusik's attorneys 10 days to file briefs, and the government another 10 days to file an answer.
